The image shows a screenshot of the Automuseo website interface. On the left, there is a search filter menu with three sections. The first section has a dropdown menu labeled "Go to another region". The second section has a dropdown menu labeled "Road-Book Area Scotland". The third section is titled "Confirm your selection" and contains a list of categories with checkboxes and icons: "European mobility museums" (checked), "Museums / Galleries / Exhibitions" (checked), "Tourist" (checked), "Train line" (checked), "Waterway, port, boat" (checked), "Restaurants / Pubs / Bistros" (unchecked), and "Bed / Rooms / Hotels / Carriage" (checked). On the right, there is a map titled "TOURIST ROAD-BOOK Area Scotland" with a "SC Scotland" logo. The map shows a satellite view of Scotland with several "M" icons indicating museum locations. A popup window is open over the "BO'NESS MOTOR MUSEUM" location, providing the following information: "BRIDGENESS ROAD - FALKIRK, CENTRAL SCOTLAND BO'NESS", phone number "01506 827007", email "R.H.Anderson@hotmail.co.uk", and website "http://www.motor-museum.bo-ness.org.uk/visit/motor-museum.htm". The popup also includes a link "Learn more about this property >>". The map interface includes navigation controls (up, down, left, right arrows, zoom in/out) and map style options (Plan, Satellite, Mixte).

Each country has its own website and Automuseo federates all at the European level, in this first version of the France, Germany, Great Britain and Ireland are available.

The menus are multilingual enabling tourists to access it in their language. This site will also for organizers advice and information on museums.
